Millionaire Has Big Things In Store For Talisman Corp.

The story produced herewith out of the Miami Herald will be of interest to sugar cane growers in south Florida because it has to do with the future of one of the biggest mills on Lake Okeechobee — The Talisman Corporation.

Sharp increase in sugar cane acreage and also in capacity of the grinding mill are being planned by William D. Pawley, multimillionaire Miami financier, new president of the financially-plagued Talisman Corporation.

Circuit Judge James R. Knott entered an order Thursday ending receivership of Talisman and dismissing receiver Thomas P. Caldwell.

Pawley became president and Ernest J. Hewett, Miami attorney who has been serving as president, became vice president.

Contacted Friday at the mill at his new holdings about a dozen miles south of South Bay off U. S. 27, Pawley said "we are going to develop the property."

"We are shooting for between 14,000 and 15,000 acres of cane for the coming harvest season. We have 12,500 acres scheduled." (continued on page 8)

40 Years Doing One Thing Well! That's Us Here At The Everglades News Office

(By Paul Rardin)

Forty years ago day before yesterday—March 11, 1924—the first issue of this great palladium of the family fireside came off the press here in Canal Point. Since that eventful day, luck has been on our side and not a single weekly issue has been missed—although once or twice during hurricane and flood, such as 1928—it was necessary to call on east coast neighbors to print a couple of issues of the paper.

A lot of speckled perch have been caught out of the West Palm Beach canal since that day four decades ago when this newspaper first saw the light of day. Your writer has been here at the helm of the paper for 30 years, or that 40 year period. Only two men served in the editor-publisher position before I arrived. Those 30 years have been wonderful ones for Mrs. Rardin and me.

In the mechanical department of the newspaper is one man—J. T. (Jake) Platt who will rack up thirty years with us 'come next February. He is a native of Taylor county Florida and with his family, has lived in Pahokee for many, many years.

But, let's look back a little and see what was going on when the first issue of The Everglades News came off the press. For those 6-month wonders in the cane growing business, let us say that cane was being grown here in 1924. Exactly 900 acres. It was located as follows:

Canal Point	800 acres
South Bay	32 acres
Kraemer Island	40 acres
Pahokee	4 acres
Belle Glade	24 acres

Total 900 acres

Harvest was starting on the first of 1,000 acres of tomatoes. Folks were looking forward to the coming of the railroad. They also were expecting Conner's Highway to be opened to West Palm Beach. Yes, boat traffic was the order of the day then. Several acres of green beans were being harvested and the farmers were paying 15¢ per hamper for picking. Carter's Store in Canal Point was being publicized as the "only store in the world to buy a carload of fish hook."

In looking over the first issue we found that Homer Vivian was mayor of Pahokee. Dr. D. S. Spooner was president of the city council. Other members of the council were A. R. Rice, O. B. McClatchie, L. L. Stuckey and E. G. Kilpatrick. Town Clerk was J. H. Cason and Town Marshal was Thomas Dickson, Sr.

Last year's recipient, Miss Anne McLaughlin, has successfully completed her first semester as a student in the Nursing Program at Palm Beach Junior College. Miss McLaughlin is a graduate of Cardinal Newman High School.

The 1962 recipient, Miss Esther Stringer, a graduate of Roosevelt High School, is in her senior year at the School of Nursing at Florida A & M. in Tallahassee.

The selection committee consists of Dean Paul Glynn, Chairman, Dr. C. L. Brumback, and Miss Ruth Ranson. Applications and complete information may be obtained by writing to Dean Paul Glynn, Dean of Student Personnel, Palm Beach Junior College, Lake Worth, Florida.

The scholarship will be awarded on ability and financial need. The deadline for applications will be on or before August 1, 1964. Final decision rests in the hands of the (Continued on Page 8)

Wants No Delay In Pumping Up Rock For Glades Roads

County Commissioners this week appealed to the State Road Department not to delay stocking piling material to be used for road construction in the Glades.

Commissioner Paul Rardin, Canal Point, said a contractor who bid in the job, now wants to delay start of pumping the material. The board agreed to send a telegram to the State Road Department, strongly protesting any delay in stock piling the material.

Dredge Purchase Renewed By Board

Purchase of a dredge by the county commission, which has been held up for weeks because of a question of patent rights, was given the green light this week by the county's legal department.

The commission planned to purchase a dredge for use in county parks, from a Nashville firm. The purchase order was later cancelled because of a threatened suit over patent rights.

County Attorney Harry Johnson told the commission Monday that a court injunction has been issued, halting the argument over patent rights.

The county board moved to re-issue the purchase order and in another action voted to call for bids for dredge pipe and other material needed to get the dredge in operation.

Action to get the dredge project back on the road was pushed by Commissioner George Warren in whose district the machinery will be put into use, dredging fill for Lake Ida park.

Legislative Act Nullifies Board Beach Control

County Commissioners learned this week that a special legislative act which gave the board authority to control installation of groins and other beach structures, has been wiped out by a legislative act passed in the last session.

Up to this time, the county board issued permits for structures aimed at preventing beach erosion, seawalls, etc., but the new act puts control of these projects at the state capitol.

Under the new law, jurisdiction of the beach erosion projects becomes the responsibility of the division of beaches and shores, a new branch of the Florida Board of Conservation.

In the future, the county attorney advised the commission, property owners seeking permits for ocean front improvements should make application direct to the state.

Rolling Billboards Will Advertise State Orange Juice

LAKELAND—More than 1,000 rolling billboards which carry Florida orange juice advertising messages along the nation's highways will receive a face-lifting when the first of the Florida Citrus Commission's newest posters go up on the sides of commercial trailer units which transport frozen concentrated orange juice to market.

The new posters depict a glass of orange juice, framed by clusters of fresh oranges. At the top of the poster is the message, "O J. Is On The Way", while at the bottom is, "The Real Thing From Florida."

More than 1,400 trailers were carrying the citrus posters at the time of the severe December 1962 freeze which brought a halt to most of the commission's advertising efforts. Last spring, when funds once again were available, the commission purchased additional posters and since May another 1,000 trailers were supplied with the advertising material.

A commission representative is devoting full time to servicing trucking companies and truck terminals with the posters. Any company or driver wishing to have a poster placed on a trailer may contact the commission office in Lakeland.

Here Is What Transpired At Monday's Meeting Of The Palm Beach County Commission

It appears that ocean front lands offered to the county commission for possible purchase are privately owned and not state owned as was first reported.

The county board learned this week that a misunderstanding between two Board members of the State II Board—one that buys and one that sells—lands for recreational purposes, got their signals crossed.

Lands offered to the county—all of it in the north end of the county—were actually listings in the land acquisition department for possible purchase by the state and should not have been offered

A message from the Treasury of a free people

How to speak out for freedom today

Free men have never gone in much for silence. Even before the first thirteen States became United States, men were speaking for freedom loud and clear.

Today Americans speak out for freedom many ways—in Congress, in local government, in neighborhood activities. Some speak out for freedom in other languages, in other lands. And millions of Americans speak out for freedom every time they buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in freedom. While you're saving money for your own family's future, you're helping Uncle Sam tend to the business of keeping men free today.

Perhaps you don't speak out for freedom in the same tone of voice when you buy a Bond as Patrick Henry did in his famous speech. But you speak every bit as surely. And every bit as proudly.

Why not speak out for freedom now? Buy Bonds at the bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Keep freedom in your future with
U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

New $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest on U.S. Savings Bonds

The Treasury explains why the new ones you buy and the ones you own now are better than ever

Q: How does the new $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest rate benefit me?

A: With Series E Bonds, the rate turns $18.75 into $25.00 fourteen months faster than the old rate. Your savings increase faster, because your Bonds mature in just 7 years, 9 months.

With Series H Bonds, the 10-year maturity period stays the same but more interest is paid you each six months. With both E and H Bonds the new rate works out to $2\frac{1}{4}\%$ for the first year and a half; then a guaranteed 4% each year to maturity.

Q: When did the new rate become effective?

A: June 1, 1959.

Q: Does the new rate change the Bonds I bought before June 1, 1959?

A: All older E and H Bonds pay more now—an extra $\frac{1}{2}\%$ from now on, when held to maturity. The increase takes effect in the first full interest period after June 1.

Q: Will the Bonds I own automatically earn their new rate?

A: Yes. You don't need to do a thing—just hold on to your Bonds.

Q: When my E Bonds mature, will they keep on earning interest?

A: Yes. An automatic 10-year extension privilege went into effect along with the new interest rate. This means your E Bonds will automatically keep earning interest after maturity.

Q: With the new interest rate, should I cash in my old Bonds and buy new ones?

A: No. The automatic $\frac{1}{2}\%$ increase makes it unnecessary—and in almost every case it is to your advantage to retain your present Bonds.

Q: How are series H Bonds different from series E Bonds?

A: The chief difference is this: You buy H Bonds at full face value and the interest is paid by Treasury check every six months for the life of the Bond. You buy E Bonds at 75% of face value and the interest accumulates to maturity. H Bonds provide income for living expenses, while E Bonds build a nest egg for the future. That's why many retired people hold H Bonds and families saving for, say, a child's education, buy E Bonds.

Q: In what denominations can I buy series E and series H Bonds?

A: E Bonds: $25 (cost $18.75), $50 (cost $37.50), $100 (cost $75.00), $200 (cost $150.00), $500 (cost $375.00), $1,000 (cost $750.00), $10,000 (cost $7,500.00).

H Bonds: $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. They are priced at face value.

Q: How safe are U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Savings Bonds are an absolutely riskless way to save. The United States Government guarantees the cash value of your Bonds will not drop, that it can only grow.

Q: What if my Bonds should be lost, stolen or destroyed?

A: You can't lose. Every Bond purchased is recorded by the Treasury. If anything happens to your Bonds they are replaced—free.

Q: Where can I buy Bonds?

A: Buy E Bonds at any bank—it takes only a few minutes. Buy them automatically through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. This Plan means you can have any amount you name automatically deducted every payday. The Bonds you buy by installments are delivered to you automatically, too. Your bank will take your order for H Bonds.

Q: How do I help strengthen America's peace power when I buy U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Peace costs money—money for military strength and for science. And money saved by individuals helps keep our economy sound.

THE FARM FRONT

BY DOYLE CONNER
FLORIDA DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

I've been watching for some report concerning possible effects in Florida of the President's proposal to reduce the U. S. Department of Agriculture's budget by more than one Billion Dollars in the coming fiscal year starting July 1.

The most important result, I believe, has to do with screwworms and is of special interest to Florida's livestock industry.

As reported in the March issue of Farm Journal, a saving of some $650,000 annually is expected by dropping the screwworm inspection stations along the Mississippi river to the Gulf. The stations were activated in 1959 to protect Southeastern states from another invasion by the deadly pest.

Florida has been relying on those inspections to prevent screwworms from getting another foothold here where they can survive through the winter and spread northward again. It could use several million dollars (and USDA an equal amount) to wipe them out in the cooperative eradication program of 1958-59.

Two subsequent outbreaks to the north of us were attributed to infested animals from the Southwest which somehow escaped detection at the inspection line. Quick action by our State and Federal livestock officials, however, contained the outbreaks and prevented them from spreading. But every project like that is costly.

Screwworm eradication in southern Texas has been doing a good job. But I don't think enough time has elapsed since the last case was reported there about 2 1/2 months ago, to give assurance that Florida and the rest of the Southeast is free of danger from that source.

Several months more, at least, is necessary to make sure screwworms won't appear again in southern Texas with the advent of warm weather. If they show up, eradication efforts must be stepped up.

I believe it is too early to plan on dropping the inspection line. In fact, I don't think it should be abandoned so long as screwworms exist between the Mississippi and the Pacific, and until a barrier along the Mexican border has been proved effective to prevent permanently any re-entry from Mexico into the Southwest.

California farmers aren't going to wait for a labor crisis to develop when their supply of Mexican labor is no longer available by the end of this year. The Bracero program (Public Law 78) is due to expire next December 31.

Reversing their traditional opposition to any attempts at cutting off this labor source, California farmers have decided to face up to "realities" and do something about it now. An intensive recruitment program for qualified domestic workers is one of their objectives.

As reported recently in The Packer, California state officials have been asked to make a survey of labor needs county by county, crop by crop and month by month. Information is to be gathered also on progress of mechanization, and what domestic workers will expect in wages, housing, transportation, etc.

Higher labor costs are expected and growers want the survey to include information about agriculture's ability to meet them. Some observers believe adoption of a universal domestic labor program is practically certain to result in higher prices at wholesale and retail levels for fresh fruits and vegetables.

Nevertheless, the spokesman for the growers indicated their new program is a sincere effort on the part of agriculture to help solve unemployment problems in California and in other parts of the nation.

Their labor recruitment is expected to extend into other states.

At its recent annual meeting, the National Peach Council was advised that Florida is a "comer" in production of peaches and nectarines. Florida's harvest can begin around April 15, well ahead of California, Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama, it was noted. Those states may drop their early varieties in favor of mid-season fruit.

Also mentioned was an increase in peach processing and development of a new peach concentrate now ready to market, to compete with orange juice.

Millionaire Has

He explained, "we will be developing as fast as we can for fall planting. We expect to have 25,000 acres for the fall. And by next year a full 30,000 acres."

He added, "we have more acreage than that." And hinted the acreage later may be even larger.

To handle the planned tremendous increases in sugar cane, "we are negotiating for increase in the plant capacity this summer. We will increase to 6,000 tons per day (grinding) capacity." The present mill is rated at less than 5,000 tons per day.

Regarding the new undertaking, the financier commented, "We are enjoying doing it. It is an interesting undertaking and we are glad to save it from the wringer and save the stockholders their money."

He said he was boarding a helicopter almost immediately for his return to Miami.

A Pawley holding company recently purchased 11,000 acres of Glades land and this will be added to the 15,000 acres of Talisman sugar cane property.

Pawley, a former owner of the Miami bus system, has agreed to invest $4 million in Talisman and will obtain another $7 million in mortgage loans. Talisman's debts were fixed at approximately $10 million.

The 1962 freeze which caught the crop before completion of the mill forced the company into receivership. Talisman is one of several companies that moved into the Glades after the Cuban embargo was imposed by Fidel Castro.

Credit Group Has Increased Assets

Farmers Production Credit Association proudly announced recently that its assets and resources, as of December 31, 1963, were increased by $2,428,836.21 over December 31, 1962. It was also announced that 27,023 shares of Class A Stock with a total value of $135,115.00 were sold during the same period. A 4 percent dividend was paid on all outstanding Class A Stock amounting to $27,133.91.

These figures were disclosed by Chas. B. Long, Jr., Secretary-Treasurer of the Association at its Annual Meeting held in Miami Springs recently. Approximately 165 members and guests were in attendance. Long attributed the increase in amounts of loans made to several factors, one of which was the popular, low interest rate of 5 1/2 percent.

Water Argument Ended By Board

County Commissioners this week received further complaints that the county health department was involved in a controversial campaign pushing floridation.

Jack Solomon, strong opponent to place chemicals in the West Palm Beach water system, said he had called at the health department for information on the subject and was referred to floridation campaign headquarters. He charged that the health department should not take sides in the issue.

He attempted to put his views on a county level by asking the commission to initiate a county-wide survey of water sources but dropped the subject when informed by Commissioner Paul Rardin that these facts and figures are now on file and have been for years.
